A gentleman upon being asked what was better than a plate of hot buckwheats on a cold morn-ing, very curt; replied "two plates full!" We have the buckwheat—the best—and for the present will seil 10 pounds for 35c.

THE "NAME" ALONE ISN'T ENOUGH Because affour has a pretty name and quite a start in the race for trade if does not follow that it is the best, and can demand high prices. We have a Blended Patent Process Flour (called our "Culifornia" brand) which we will place against any flour in the world for purity, whiteness and wholesomeness. Yet its price is no more than you pay for inferior brands, and from 50c. to $1 per barrel less than the extensively advertised Fancy brands. Our price, $1.60 per quarter barrel, and $6 per barrel.

Ceres makes more bread, lighter bread, whiter bread, sweeter than any other flour.

BEN FRANKLIN says: "Two dry o feke will DEN FRANKLIN says: "Two dry s icks will burn a green one." Now while we do not deny the truth of Benny's statement we do deny that it is always applicable in its broad meaning, viz., that two goods will cancel one bad. Take the manufacture of blended flour, for instance. The blender may mix with two fine grades of flour one bad (to cheapen the cost of manufacture), but the combination will not be good, for the bad is still there and is bound to show up. It seems to us that the fire would burn brighter if all the sticks were dry, and s blended flour would be better if all the flours from which it was made were good. Ceres is a fine Patent Process Blended Flour of the "ALL-DRY-STICK" kind and hasn't a bad spot in it. Ceres' hobby is bread-making—in 'Ais, if is Ceres' hobby is bread-making-in this, it is simply great! All grocers sell "Ceres." Put it on your store list next time. We only sell to

A VERITABLE HIVE Or BRES.

There is nothing remarkable about this big business we are doing when you come to think of the causes. It is human nature o buy where prices are lossest, provided the qualities are right. In moving to the link we secured a great deal more floor space and reduced our rent and expense account about one-third. This naturally enables us to sell from 20 to 25 per cent lower than we were formerly able to do. The public are becoming aware of this fact, and the result is a constantly increasing trade. With a view of transacting an extraordinary amount of business tomorrow we have concluded to offer a number of "SPECIAL DRIVER," among which will be the following: DRIVES," among which will be the following:
